WEST END VIADUCT

CONQUEROR OF DORANDO WEDS MOHAWK BELLE

MISS ANNETTE MACELE AND TOM LONGBOAT.

Toronto, Can., Dec. 11.—Ordinarily there is nothing unusual about an Indian brave marrying, but when a redskin who is an international celebrity because of his marvelous ability as a runner, wins his bride in a speed contest and arranges to wed her in public, the unusual creeps to the surface.

Tom Longboat, conqueror of Dorando Pietri in the latest Marathon, and the greatest Indian runner since the days of Deerfoot, became a benedict in January.

Longboat is an Onondaga from the Brantford reservation, in western Ontario. His bride is Annette Macele, a Mohawk, from the Deseronto reservation, 500 miles to the east.

In the past the tribes were deadly enemies, but now the chiefs sit together in peace councils. These councils are marked by extensive games, the dearest to the heart of the Indian being those of speed and endurance.

After Tom Longboat's return from the Olympic games he was elected a chief of the Onondagas and visited the Mohawk reservation as delegate. His fame has traveled before him, and when pretty Annette Macele, daughter of Chief Big Thunder saw him, she promptly fell in love with him.

Longboat known among the tribesmen as "Big Canoe," was smitten by the dark eyes of the Mohawk beauty and was not slow to press his suit. But Annette was coy. She decided to be wooed in the traditional style, and owning a swift pony challenged the Marathon runner to a race.

Longboat accepted, agreeing to challenge Annette within an hour after she rode off the reservation. The event was the feature of the gathering.

That hour's run will not go down in athletic history as a record, but it is said that the conqueror of Dorando had to cover 10 miles across rough country before he overtook the pony and its burden.

Muscular Pains Cured.

"During the summer of 1903 I was troubled with muscular pains in the instep of my foot," says Mr. S. Pedlar, of Toronto, Ont. "At times it was so painful I could hardly walk. Chamberlain's Pain Balm was recommended to me, so I tried it and was completely cured by one small bottle. I have since recommended it to several of my friends, all of whom speak highly of it." For sale by all druggists.

WHERE EAST AND WEST MEET

An important feature of the National Stock Show at Denver is the business end. This is what makes it so popular to the stockmen and farmers of the east, as well as the west. Denver seems to be a natural point where the producers of pure-bred stock from the east and the producer of range stock in the west, can get together. From the west comes the range man and farmer with his well bred range cattle, ripe for the feed lot. From the east will come hundreds of stock feeders looking for just this kind of cattle. The western man will sell his feeder cattle to the men of the east and in return will buy the pure bred stock brought here by the man from the east to take back to the range and further improve his flocks and herds. It is this feature of the Denver show that is making it of such great value to the live stock industry of the west. During the show week there will be public sales of pure-bred cattle, sheep and hogs and sales of the best types of breeding horses. On the other hand, it is expected that there will be over 5,000 fancy feeder cattle on exhibition and sale and there will be plenty of buyers for all.

MAXIMUM AGE LIMIT FOR CUPID

Judge Would Prevent Marriage of Old People Unless Guardian Consents.

Milwaukee, Wis., Jan. 11.—Poor Cupid! Lo, these many years he has had to fight against a minimum age limit handicap. Often and often he has shot his barbed arrows into some youthful pair, only to see them balked by a cruel issuer of licenses, who told Harry and Hettie to run along back home and wait till they were a year or two older.

But now comes O. T. Williams, judge of the circuit court of Milwaukee, Wis., and wants to put on the brakes at the other end of the matrimonial line. He wants a law fixing a maximum age limit.

When Ezra Jones, 77, and Violet Smith, aged 46, or 45, or 23, as the case may be, comes to probate court to get the necessary papers, the unfeeling clerk will remark pleasantly: "Ah, Mr. Jones, I trust you have the written consent of son, or daughter, or legal guardian?"

A case came before the judge only a few days ago in which a man of 81 was suing his wife of 67 for divorce. He had married her two months after his first wife's death, and testified that constantly after the wedding she had tried by every means she could think of to get possession of his bank book and other property. "There are many such cases," says Judge Williams. "Old people with property are constantly the victims of designing persons of the opposite sex, who marry them simply to get their money away from them. There should be a law requiring the consent of the adult children of couples over a certain age, and in case there are no children I would favor the power of consent being placed with some judge of a court of record—preferably either a probate or circuit court judge."

"A good reason for such a law is that adult children are responsible for the care and maintenance of aged parents. This being so, the children should have a voice in the matter affecting the financial welfare of the parents."

"There is just one objection—that children of wealthy parents might raise objections under the law when there was no valid reason for objecting. This could be met by a provision in the law giving the proper judge the right to officially approve of the marriage when it could be shown by the contracting parties that there was no reasonable opposition to the marriage."

Judge Williams is 65, married, and has been 12 years on the circuit bench. He has a reputation as a "settler" of divorce cases which are brought before him. He gets the couple into his private office, and sends them forth smiling, to notify their lawyers that "it's been fixed up."

SPLENDID OPPORTUNITY

Business men desiring the services of a stenographer or bookkeeper can get first class help by applying to the Tyler Commercial College Employment Bureau, Tyler, Texas. This school maintains one of the most complete employment bureaus to be found anywhere; it is prepared to furnish graduates fresh from the school who are thoroughly trained in the most modern business methods, or furnish experienced help in almost any line of business that could be named. It maintains this employment bureau so that it may place its graduates as soon as their course is finished, and should they not be placed in positions paying sufficient salary to justify their remaining there, then it may secure for them better paying positions after they have had some experience.

The services of the Employment Bureau are free to both student and employer.

Some Reasons Why

The C

Because The Citizen is a home paper. It is either delivered by carrier at the house or is carried home by the business man when his day's work is done and it STAYS THERE. A morning paper is usually carried down town by the head of the family and hurriedly read.

The Citizen is not read hurriedly, but thoroughly so that all advertisements receive their share of attention. It presents the store news a little ahead, giving the prospective purchaser time to plan a shopping tour for the next morning.

Wise advertisers patronize The Citizen because they know their advertisements are seen and read at the homes in the evening, and if they are offering something worthy of attention, their ad has accomplished its mission.

The Citizen has never given premiums to subscribers but is subscribed to and paid for on its news merits, showing that its subscribers have money with which to buy what they want from legitimate merchants. These are the people The Citizen invites to your store.

The Citizen employs a man whose business it is to look after your advertising wants. He will write your copy if you wish. If not, he will see that your ads are "set up" to look their best and he will attend to them from day to day.

Are you advertising in The Citizen? Your competitors are, and are profiting by it. Do you think conservative business men are spending money where they are not getting results? Get in the swim and watch your business grow.
